Fred Meijer White Pine Trail State Park Stanwood to Reed City

Travelling through the scenic Muskegon River valley, the 21.5-mile stretch from Stanwood to Reed City offers several stunning views of this mighty Michigan river.

The paved section of trail from Taft Road in Big Rapids to Reed City is a popular day trip. A towering bridge takes you across the Muskegon River as the trail heads north to the quaint hamlet of Paris, home of Paris County Park and the historic Paris Fish Hatchery. You must purchase a pass to park at Paris County Park.

The trail climbs a slight grade through scenic forest and farm fields on its way to Reed City. Take a break at the beautiful Reed City Depot at the junction of the Pere Marquette State Trail. The Reed City Depot offers tourist information, restrooms and a picnic pavilion near food stores and several restaurants in Reed City's downtown shopping district.
