Top of Michigan Trails Network

Take a trip to the top of the mitt and explore a growing network of over 400 miles of nonmotorized hiking, biking, cross country skiing and water trails.

One of America's top destinations for multiday biking or paddlesport adventures, you'll find ample lodging, camping and amenities located on or near most of the trails. This includes an extensive network of rail-trails built on the remnants of several major railways that once brought travelers to Northern Michigan's vacation wonderland and hauled freight to be ferried across the Straits of Mackinaw.

Enjoy a peaceful journey along serene stretches of state forest, rolling farmland, rivers, wetlands and the shorelines of several inland lakes. Or challenge your skiing and mountain biking skills on the pathways at Black Mountain. In the following pages, we will introduce you to these wonders of northern Michigan.

Ride along the edge of Little Traverse Bay on the Little Traverse Wheelway.
